- who we are and the services we offer
- how we and our associates are paid
- any potential conflict of interest we may have

Who we are and how you can instruct us.

The financial services in relation to this FSG are provided by ACS Financial Pty Ltd (ACN 062 448 122) as trustee for the ACS Business Trust (ABN 91 460 778 961) ("ACS Financial"), the holder of Australian Financial Services Licence 247388, and by our authorised representatives listed in Schedule 1 below.

It is likely that when we provide the services in this FSG to Australian Christian Churches (ABN 58 123 514 361) ("ACC Movement") members, affiliates and associates, that we will do so through the ACC Insurance & Protection Program ("the Program"). This includes general insurance policies, placed with a range of insurers, and a miscellaneous financial risk product provided by ACS Mutual Limited (ACN 162 909 346) ("ACS Mutual") and tailored to the needs of the ACC Movement member churches and affiliate organisations. We provide further details about our general insurance and discretionary mutual services ("the Services") in the following sections.

We are able to receive your instructions personally, by telephone, mail or email using the contact details provided below.

The Services

Our General Insurance Services

We are authorised by the Australian Securities & Investments Commission ("ASIC") to provide you with financial product advice about, and to deal in, general insurance products. That means we can give you our opinion and recommendations, and arrange the cover you decide to purchase. Note that ACS Financial is a broker, not an insurer, and acts as agent for you unless we tell you otherwise.

If you are a retail client (as outlined below), then we will typically give you general advice, which does not take your personal needs or financial circumstances into account. Therefore, you will need to make your own decision about whether this advice suits you before you act on it. When we give you general advice, we will give you a general advice warning to remind you about this.

If we arrange an insurance policy for you, we may also give you the policy wording, and if you are a retail client, the Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) with details of the financial product. The PDS sets out information you need to make an informed decision about whether to acquire the policy.

If we provide you with financial services other than in connection with the Program, we will provide you with a separate FSG.

We offer Risk Management Education programs through seminars and consultations which can be delivered by our specialists at your operating site or another location or by other means. If we provide you with risk management advice and services, which may include provision of a Risk Management Guide, typically the advice we give you is general advice and does not take your personal needs or financial circumstances into account. We will give you a General Advice Warning to remind you about this.

Note that risk management seminar invites, risk updates and provision of the Risk Management Guide from time to time, whether in electronic or print format, are part of our service and considered necessary communications. All clients will receive such necessary communications and although you may change your preferred method of delivery at any time i.e. email or post, opt-outs will not be accepted.

Premium funding is a short-term loan that enables you to pay your premiums by installments, which may assist you in managing your cash flow. We can assist in arranging premium funding on your behalf if you require it. Contact us to request a copy of premium funder terms and conditions.

Our Discretionary Mutual Services

ACS Financial has been appointed to manage ACS Mutual on behalf of ACS Mutual members, all of whom are members, persons, affiliates and associates of the ACC Movement or other similar associations relating to churches in Australia. Our representatives are employees or contractors of ACS Financial and are authorised to provide you with general financial product advice about, and to deal in, miscellaneous financial risk products. That means we can give you general factual information on these products and arrange the protection(s) you decide to purchase from ACS Mutual.

If you are a retail client (as outlined below), then we will typically give you general advice, which does not take your personal needs or financial circumstances into account. Therefore, you will need to make your own decision about whether this advice suits you before you act on it. When we give you general advice, we will give you a general advice warning to remind you about this.

If we arrange protection for you with ACS Mutual, we will also give you the protection wording (similar to a policy wording), and the Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) with details of the financial product. The PDS sets out information you need to make an informed decision about whether to acquire the protection.

If we provide you with financial services other than in connection with the Program, we will provide you with a separate FSG.

Who do we act for?

ACS Financial has a formal service agreement with the ACC Movement to make the Services available to eligible participants (members, persons, affiliates and associates of the ACC Movement) through the Program.

If we provide you with advice or recommendations about any products offered through the Program, we do so as the ACC Movement's appointed manager and provider of administrative services of the Program.

If we provide you with advice or recommendations about any protection offered by the ACS Mutual, we do so as the ACS Mutual's appointed Manager under the Australian Financial Services Licence 247388.
